HISTORICAL SKETCH.

This church takes its origin from the First Church in Lebanon. The exact time of its organization is not known, nor can the names of its first members be determined. The parent church, formed in 1700, probably had not reached a score of years when the branch was planted here. An Ecclesiastical Society was constituted here in 1716, and this may be regarded as the probable year of the organization of the church. The Society was known as the Second Society in Lebanon, Lebanon North Parish, or Lebanon Crank, until 1804, when Columbia became a town.

Taking the year 1716 as the time of the formation of this church, we find that, in the order of time in which the present existing Trinitarian Congregational churches came into being, this church holds the third place in Tolland county, where there are now 23 churches; and about the sixtieth place in the State, where there are now 285 churches; and about the one hundred and fortieth place in the United States, where there are now about 2,700 Congregational churches.

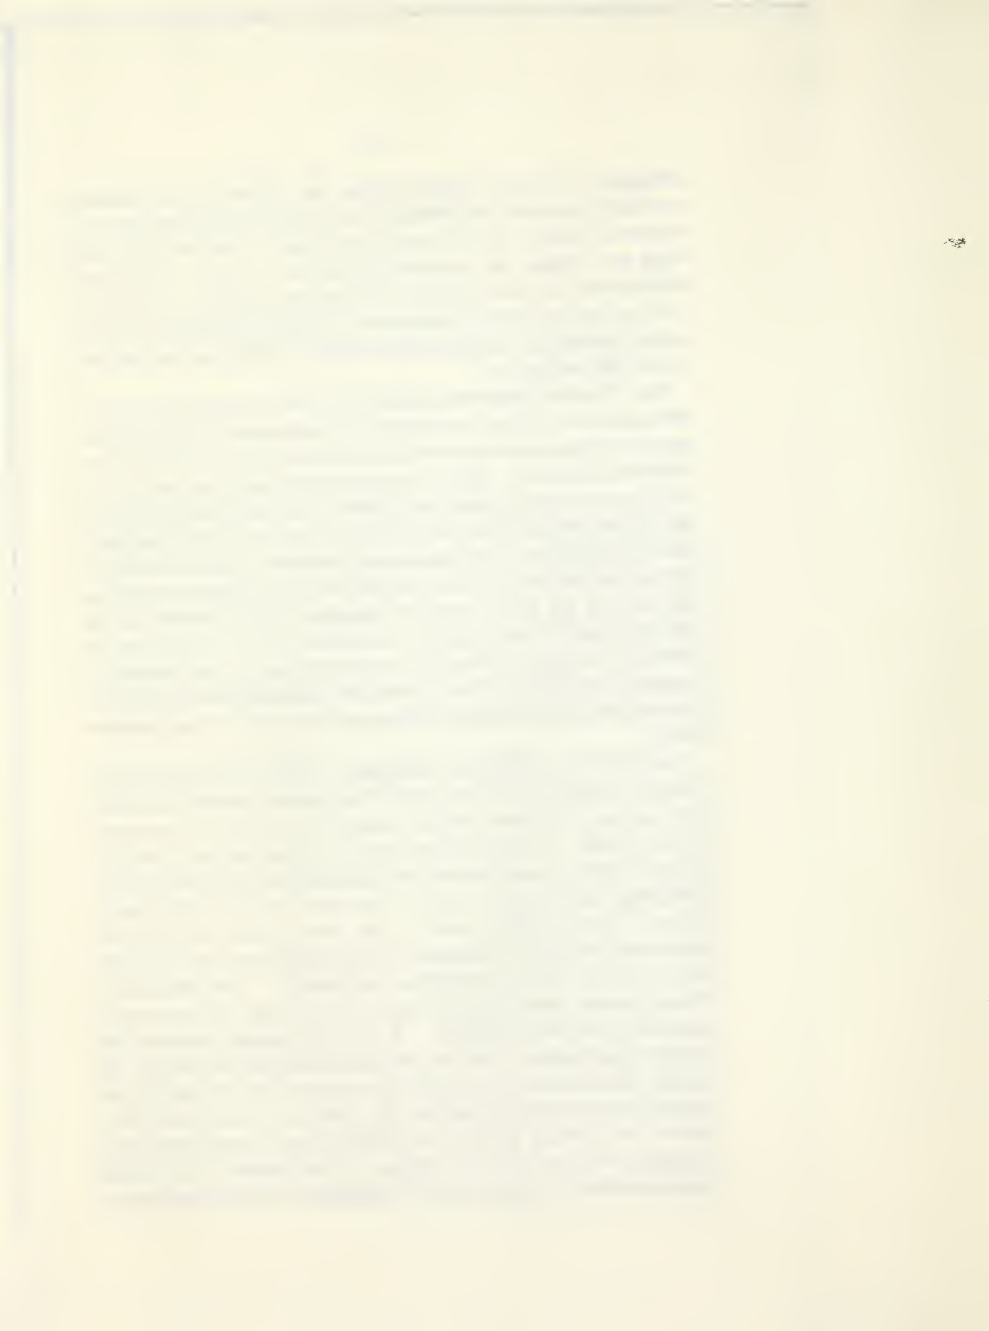

The Parish retains its original territory, with the exception that, in 1780, a small portion was set off to Andover.

The first two pastorates reached over only fourteen years; the next two over a period of seventy years, just thirty-five each. The first of these long pastorates was held by Rev. Eleazer Wheelock. The following were the terms of his settlement:—"Voted, to give Mr. Wheelock that part of the minister's farm which they reserved in their agreement with Mr. Gager, which they suppose is somewhat more than twenty acres, and two hundred pounds in bills of public credit, for a settlement, in case he settles in the work of the ministry among us." Also, "Voted; to give Mr. Wheelock one hundred and forty pounds a year salary, to be paid in bills of public credit, or in provisions at the following prices, viz: wheat at nine shillings per bushel, rye at seven, Indian corn at five, oats at two shillings and six pence, pork at six pence a pound, and beef at four; which are to be the standard by which his salary is to rise or fall, and to rise or fall proportionally as they, in the general, rise or fall among us."

Mr. Wheelock began his ministry in 1735, just at the time when commenced the "great awakening" at Northampton and elsewhere, and he became an earnest and efficient fellow laborer with the Rev. Jonathan Edwards. His own people shared largely in the blessing which everywhere attended his labors; but hardly any record is left of the members who united with the church during the early part of his ministry. The success of his labors at home is indicated by the fact, that at one time he said he "had charity to address the body of his own people as christians." The success of his labors outside his own field is exemplified in the fact, that, being called to organize a church remote from here, it was found, on personal examination, that all who then united in church covenant referred to his preaching and efforts as the means of their conversion.

In 1755 Mr. Wheelock established "Moor's Indian Charity School," which took its name from Mr. Joshua Moor, of Mansfield, who gave a lot of land near the center of the parish for the support of the school. A school house was soon built for this purpose, situated on the corner, east of the Hartford road and south of the Windham road; opposite this on the north was Dr. Wheelock's house. This enterprise, after a few years, began to be looked upon with very general interest, and contributions were made in various places for the support of the pupils. The province of Massachusetts voted to pay, for a certain time, the expense of educating six Indian children. In 1768 the school received the formal approbation of the General Association of the State. So rapidly did the number of pupils increase that Dr. Wheelock determined to send to England for aid. Samson Occum, a Mohegan, one of his earliest pupils, who became justly celebrated as a preacher, was sent for this purpose. This appeal received the earnest advocacy of such men as Whitfield, Wesley, Romaine and Venn. Nearly ten thousand pounds were raised in a few months, the King himself giving two hundred pounds. After a prosperous growth of fifteen years, under the inducement of a grant of 44,000 acres of land, and against the earnest remonstrance of the Ecclesiastical Society, the school was transferred to Hanover, New Hampshire, and there it was made the foundation of Dartmouth College, Dr. Wheelock being its first President.

In a scrap of Church Record which has been found among Dr. Wheelock's old papers is made the following entry, the peculiar character of which gives it a place here. "At a meeting of the brethren of the church of Christ in Lebanon North Parish, Feb. 14, A. D. 1737-8; the church then voted that they would choose a competent number of the most judicious, prudent and skilful of the brethren of the church, and set them apart for, and commit to them, the management of all affairs in church government, in all ordinary cases, and appoint them to examine, try and judge of the same in their name and behalf, under the conduct of their minister or pastor, and to advise, assist and help him in any matters wherein he shall desire or require their help and assistance;—and pursuant to this vote this church made choice of these brethren, in the order following, to represent them:—Dea. John Newcomb, Dea. Joseph Clark, Capt. Ephraim Sprague, Mr. James Wright, Mr. Nehemiah Clossen, Mr. Josiah Lyman, Mr. Thomas Woodward, Lieut. Henry Woodward, Ensign John Daggett." How long this Church Council, as it was called, was kept in existence cannot be determined, but since it appears to have come into disfavor with some very soon, it is quite probable that it was discontinued before the close of Dr. Wheelock's pastorate.

A complete Rate List for 1741, with names and individual Rates, has also been obtained from the same source as the above, in its original form, from which it appears, that one hundred and twenty years ago, the number of persons in the parish who paid a tax for the support of the gospel was one hundred and fifty-four.

The earliest Church Records of any extent are in the handwriting of Mr. Brockway, beginning with his settlement. The ministers invited by the church and society to assist in the ordination of Mr. Brockway, were Rev. Messrs. Solomon Williams of Lebanon, Timothy Stone of Goshen, Joseph Huntington of South Coventry, Benjamin Pomeroy of Hebron, Samuel Lockwood of Andover, George Beckwith and Stephen Johnson. Mr. Brockway is spoken of by some still living with very great respect, and his ministry was, for the most part, a happy and successful one. In the troublous times of war, he showed himself not only the faithful, devoted pastor, but the patriotic citizen. He was willing to share with the people in their pecuniary struggles at that time, proposing to "give in fifteen pounds a year till the enemy withdrew, and ten pounds a year till the Continental debt was paid." But this was not enough. No sooner did the news of the burning of New London reach the place than "he started off with his long gun and deacons and parishioners to assist in doing battle with the enemy."

At the time of Mr. Brockway's ordination there were 69 members of the church, 32 males and 37 females. During his ministry there were two seasons of special religious interest;—one in 1781, when 30 were added to the church; the other in 1801, giving an accession of 35. The whole number that united with the church during his ministry was 139, of whom 29 were by letter. Mr. Brockway was the only pastor who died while holding the pastoral office. His funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Zebulon Ely of Lebanon, from Heb. xiii. 7, 8.

The next season of special religious interest was in 1816, during the ministry of Mr. Rich, when 50 were gathered into the church. Mr. Rich had previously been settled for ten years in Westbrook, Ct.; and after his dismissal from this church, he preached in Sharon, Mass., and in Salisbury, Mass., and he died in Amesbury, Mass.

Revivals also occurred in 1821, 1823 1825 and 1831, during the ministry of Mr. Dickinson, as the fruits of which about 100 were brought into the church. Mr. Dickinson had preached, before his installation here, for 18 years, in Plainfield, New Hampshire. After his dismissal, he resumed the practice of medicine, which he had pursued in early life. He died in Mexico, N. Y.

The subsequent periods of special religious interest have been in 1841, in connection with the labors of Mr. Woodward, when 17 were added to the church; and in 1854 and 1858, giving as their fruits an accession of 43. The whole number added since the death of Mr. Brockway is 324, of whom 68 were by letter. The present number, including 9 who are absent, is 145,—49 males and 96 females.

A Sabbath School was organized in June, 1820. The Rev. Alfred Wright, for thirty-three years a missionary among the Choctaws, first proposed, and aided in the establishment of the Sabbath School. Dea. Benjamin Lyman, who still retains a deep interest in the school, was its first superintendent, which position he continued to hold for fourteen years.

The first Meeting house was completed in 1727, and was situated about two rods north-west of the present house. The second house was built in 1748, and was situated about ten rods south-west of the present house. The third house was built in 1832. The second house was six feet longer and four feet wider than the present house, and for many years before the close of the last century it was crowded in every part with the ordinary Sabbath congregations.

CONFESSION OF FAITH.

"With the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation."—Rom. x. 10.

I. We believe there is one God and only one, existing in three persons, Father, Son and Holy Ghost, and that He is the Maker and Governor of all things. Deut. vi. 4; Neh. ix. 6; Col. i. 16, 17; Gen. i. 26; 1 Pet. i. 2; 1 John v. 7.

II. We believe in the undervied Divinity of the Son and Holy Spirit; that though they are spoken of in Scripture as persons differing from each other, and from the Father, they are nevertheless so essentially partakers of the same nature and perfections that they are one with Him; and that it is through the merits of the Son of God, and the influence of the Holy Spirit, that any are prepared for, and received into, glory. John i. 1, 14; xiv. 19; 1 John v. 20; Phil. ii. 6; Rom. ix. 5; Matt. ix. 6; Rev. xxii. 13; Acts v. 31; 2 Cor. xiii. 14.

III. We believe God originally made man upright, after his own image; but by transgressing the divine command he fell into sin; that by the sin of our first parents judgment came upon all men to condemnation; and that all their posterity are born in sin, and those that have arrived to a state of moral agency have become actual transgressors of God's Holy Law, for which they deserve eternal wrath. Gen. i. 27; Eccl. vii. 29; Rom. iii. 10, 11, 12; v. 12; vi. 23; John iii. 6, 7.

IV. We believe in the necessity of regeneration, or of being born of the Spirit, in order to see the kingdom of God. John iii. 3, 5; James i. 18; 1 Pet. i. 23; Titus iii. 5.

V. We believe the Scriptures of the Old and New Testament to be a revelation from God; that they contain a pure system of doctrine which we are bound to believe, and exhibit a perfect rule of practice according to which we are bound to walk. 2 Tim. iii. 15, 16; 2 Pet. i. 19, 20, 21; Ps. cxix. 105; John v. 29.

VI. We believe that in the appointed time the Son of God came into our world, assumed our nature, left us a perfect example of duty, died for our sins, and rose again for our justification. Heb. x. 5, 6, 7; ii. 16, 17; 1 Pet. iii. 18; Rom. v. 6, 8, 9, 10.

VII. We believe in the final perseverance of the saints; that God will keep, by his power through faith unto salvation, all who exercise saving faith Ps. xxxvii. 23, 24, 29; 1 Pet. i. 5; Phil. i. 5, 6; Rom. viii. 29, 30; Jude 24.

VIII. We believe that God is an independent, wise and righteous Sovereign, who doeth according to his own will in the army of heaven and among the inhabitants of the earth. Dan. iv. 35; Isai. xlv. 9, 10; Gen. xlv. 7, 8; Acts xiv. 27, 28; Rom. ix. 16, 17, 18; James iv. 13, 15.

IX. We believe in the resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust; in a day of Judgment, and a future and eternal state of rewards and punishments; that Christ will be universal Judge, and will render to all according to their deeds. John v. 29; Rev. xx. 12.15; 2 Cor. v. 10; Heb. ix. 27; Matt. xxv. 31.46.

COVENANT.

You do here, in the presence of God, Angels, and men, avouch the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, to be your God, and you do give up yourself [or yourselves] to be his servant [or servants] for time and eternity; promising and covenanting to have no other God besides Him, and that you will, through Christ strengthening you, walk before Him in the integrity of your heart; exercising yourself [or yourselves] in duties of piety towards God, of sobriety towards yourself [or yourselves], of justice and charity towards others; and will, by reading God's word, by prayer and meditation, guard against the sins and temptations of your own heart, and of this evil world. And you furthermore promise that you will walk with the church of Christ in this place in brotherly love and submission, devoutly attending to the ordinances of Baptism and the Lord's Supper, so far as you shall have opportunity and ability for the same.

Do you thus covenant?

THE CHURCH.

We do now receive you into our fellowship and communion, and promise to watch over you with christian affection and tenderness, ever treating you in love, as the members of the body of Christ, who is Head over all things to the church.

This we do, beseeching the Great Head of the Church, the Lord Jesus Christ, that we may all have wisdom and grace to be faithful in His covenant, and to glorify Him with the holiness which becomes His people forever. Amen.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to the study of the asymptotic behavior of the solutions of the system of equations (1) as $\epsilon \rightarrow 0$. It is shown that the solutions of the system (1) converge to the solutions of the system of equations (2) as $\epsilon \rightarrow 0$. The convergence is uniform on compact subsets of the domain Ω .

2. In the second part of the paper, the asymptotic behavior of the solutions of the system (1) is studied as $\epsilon \rightarrow 0$. It is shown that the solutions of the system (1) converge to the solutions of the system of equations (2) as $\epsilon \rightarrow 0$. The convergence is uniform on compact subsets of the domain Ω .

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the study. It highlights the need for a comprehensive understanding of the subject matter. The second part of the paper describes the methodology used in the study. It details the data collection process and the analysis techniques employed. The third part of the paper presents the results of the study. It shows the findings of the research and discusses their implications. The fourth part of the paper concludes the study. It summarizes the main points and offers suggestions for future research.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the existence of solutions of the system of equations

$$\begin{cases} \Delta u = f(x, y, z, u, v, w) \\ \Delta v = g(x, y, z, u, v, w) \\ \Delta w = h(x, y, z, u, v, w) \end{cases}$$ where f, g, h are continuous functions of the variables x, y, z, u, v, w and satisfy certain conditions. The second part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the solutions of the system (1) and to the construction of the solutions of the system (1) by the method of successive approximations.
